Subscriptions and donations in support of the Charity will be thankfully received by Messrs. Cox & Co., Charing Cross, London, S.W.; by the Secretary, C. R. Low, Esq., to whom crossed cheques and Postal Orders on the Charing Cross Post Office should be made payable; or by the Matron, Miss K. Bartlett, at the Home at Hampstead.

The Home was constructed and is equipped for 200 girls, but several beds are now necessarily empty from want of funds.

The need of such an institution is apparent from the fact that there are on an average seven candidates brought forward at each election to every one admitted.

The Committee earnestly appeal to a generous public to aid them in the support of the Charity. They also ask for the co-operation in the good work of every Regiment and Corps.

A contribution of but 6*d.* a year from each Non-commissioned Officer and Man throughout the Service would provide for the support of a child from every Regiment.

The Home is open to visitors daily between 10 and 5, except on Saturdays and Sundays.

The Committee invite the inspection of all friends of the Soldier.

BLAND'S RIFLES.

EXPRESS DOUBLE RIFLES,

·360, ·400, ·450, ·500, and ·577 Bores.

Price from 20 Guineas.

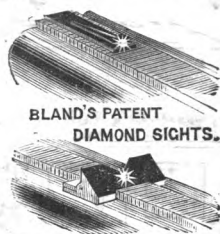

At the "Forest and Stream" trials of 1885, for testing the trajectory of rifles held at Creedmoor, U.S.A., and carried out by a Government Ordnance Officer, in the presence of a distinguished party of scientific gentlemen, the Bland Express Double Rifle beat all the thirty-one other rifles sent in for competition by the most celebrated rifle makers of America.

TESTIMONIAL.

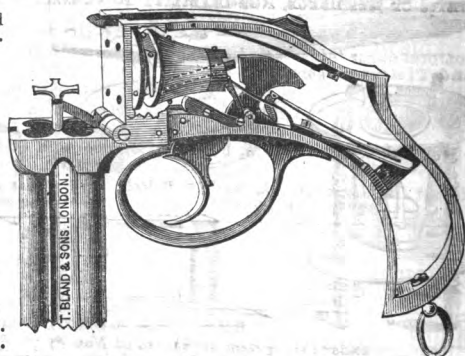

From Lieut. C. C. Leveson Gower, Schore, Bhopal, India, January 1, 1889:—

"The rifle shoots beautifully, and the Diamond foresight is a great improvement, as in jungle shooting it is always very dark, the jungles about here being very thick, and there is great difficulty in seeing an ordinary black sight. My bag has been sambur, boar and black buck."

"The most perfect sight of the kind we have ever seen."—Invention, Oct. 15, 1887.

"MONOSTRIKER" FOUR-BARRELLED PISTOL (BLAND'S PATENT),

Expressly made for the Government Cartridge, Cal. ·476.

Price £7 10s.

The chief merit or feature of this new Pistol lies in the method of its percussion action. A single striker, instead of four, as in the older models, here suffices to detonate the four barrels consecutively. This "Monostriker" is fixed to a cylinder which, besides carrying round the striker to each barrel in turn, acts as a powerful gas-check. Thus a two-fold advantage is secured—absolute impossibility from accidental or simultaneous discharge; whilst any escape of gas is completely checked from passing into the working parts of the pistol.

XVI.—Exchange after eight years' service.

263. All Officers, Warrant Officers, and non-commissioned officers of Infantry who have served abroad for a period of eight years, and those who have served at home for a similar period, will in future be permitted to register their names for posting to the battalions at home and abroad respectively, and their applications will be favourably considered whenever the exigencies of the Service admit of an interchange being effected. This will apply to Warrant Officers and non-commissioned officers of Royal Engineers, unless serving in India.

The necessary eight years' service must be continuous, or, in the case of Officers, interrupted only by the usual periods of leave of absence.

264. The names of the Officers, Warrant Officers, and non-commissioned officers desirous of this indulgence will be forwarded to the Adjutant-General, through the General Officer Commanding, on the 1st July annually with a full statement of the service at home and abroad in each case; but no application will be submitted until the required service has been actually completed. The names of Warrant Officers and non-commissioned officers of Royal Engineers will be transmitted on the same date in a separate letter.

265. Any interchanges it may be possible to make will be carried out when public transport is available.

266. This regulation will in no way interfere with the liability of Officers of Infantry to be posted at any time from one battalion of the same regiment to another, as laid down in Section IV., nor with the voluntary exchanges of Officers between one battalion and another of the same regiment.

267. In the case of the Royal Artillery, interchanges will be similarly permitted between the Warrant Officers and non-commissioned officers of the several branches.

SCHOOL OF MILITARY ENGINEERING.

17. Section IX., para. 70, the following will be inserted after sub-para. 5:—

6. Any non-commissioned officer or man who, after joining a class, is, for any cause, absent from instruction for 10 days or upwards, will be ordered to rejoin his corps.

199. Escorts are answerable for the safety of prisoners entrusted to their charge, and will be provided with handcuffs from the regimental stores for use in case of necessity. General Officers commanding may use their discretion as regards dispensing with prisoners being handcuffed; but if a Commanding Officer considers it necessary in any special case, he will give orders accordingly. When it is found necessary to handcuff a soldier in uniform, he should never be marched in military custody through the streets, unless such a course is absolutely unavoidable, but covered conveyance should be provided, as directed in para. 195.

A.O. 35.—Interior Economy of Corps—Passes.

The following will be substituted for sub para. (d), para. 23, Section VII., Part II., Queen's Regulations and Orders for the Army, 1889:—

A.O. 40.—Soldiers Messing and Cooking.

With a view to improve the cooking in the Army, the following regulations have been drawn up and will be inserted in the revised edition of the Daily Messing Account Book (Army Book 48):—

- (1.) In every regiment and battalion a prize of the value of 5s. will be given monthly from the canteen profits to the troop or company cook who during the preceding month has produced the best cooked and best served meals, in which will be included breakfast and dinner, and also the evening meal when considered desirable. The Commanding Officer, or the second in command, will exercise a general supervision over the system of awarding the prizes, and will frequently inspect the meals when cooked.
- (2.) Immediately before these meals are sent to the barrack-room, they will be inspected by the Captain of the day or week, or in his unavoidable absence by the Orderly Officer. The meals, prepared for at least three troops or companies, will be inspected on each occasion, and a note of their degree of excellence entered in a book kept for that purpose by the serjeant-cook. The Officer of the day will verify the entry by his signature. This book will be inspected on the last day of each month by the second in command, who will recommend to the Officer Commanding, the cook whom he considers most deserving of the prize.
- (3.) In judging the meals the Inspecting Officer will pay attention to the following points:—
 - (a.) The cooking.
 - (b.) The serving.
 - (c.) The making most of material.
- (4.) The name of the monthly prize winner is to be published in the Regimental Orders.
- (5.) A similar system will be pursued and similar prizes given in the Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers, and the Army Service Corps—
 - (a.) In the Royal Artillery, in each Lieut.-Colonel's command, where such consists of not less than three batteries.
 - (b.) In the Royal Engineers, in the training battalion, service battalion, and submarine mining battalion at Chatham, and at other stations where there are not less than four troops and companies of Royal Engineers.
 - (c.) In the Army Service Corps at the Curragh, Dublin, and Woolwich. At Aldershot two monthly prizes may be given, the companies of the Army Service Corps at that station being grouped for this purpose by the Officer Commanding Army Service Corps.

Page 88, General Rule III., line No. 2, transfer last sentence to end of General Rule IV., and add "When only one major is present the adjutant will take post in line or column as laid down for the left major. He will also act as directed for the left major, except as follows:—In sections 3, 4, 20, 27 (No. 2), and when the major in a line formation is covering the points, he will give the distant point (or in a central formation will mark the outer flank of the left half battalion)."

"The major will act as laid down for the right major, except that when the adjutant is covering the points in a line formation, he will give the distant point (or mark the outer flank of the right half battalion)."

Page 177, Plate XXII., The outer flank of No. 1 battalion should be marked by the adjutant, not by a major.

FIELD-MARSHAL H.R.H. THE DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE, K.G., &c., &c.

Subscriptions and donations in support of the Charity will be thankfully received by Messrs. Cox & Co., Charing Cross, London, S.W.; by the Secretary, C. R. Low, Esq., to whom crossed cheques and Postal Orders on the Charing Cross Post Office should be made payable; or by the Matron, Miss K. Bartlett, at the Home at Hampstead.

The Home was constructed and is equipped for 200 girls, but several beds are now necessarily empty from want of funds.

The need of such an institution is apparent from the fact that there are on an average seven candidates brought forward at each election to every one admitted.

The Committee earnestly appeal to a generous public to aid them in the support of the Charity. They also ask for the co-operation in the good work of every Regiment and Corps.

A contribution of but 6*d.* a year from each Non-commissioned Officer and Man throughout the Service would provide for the support of a child from every Regiment.

The Home is open to visitors daily between 10 and 5, except on Saturdays and Sundays.

The Committee invite the inspection of all friends of the Soldier.

Chairman of Committee.
